

Profiting From Safety

Presented by Fred Miller, Safety Specialist with Safety & Health Bureau, Montana Department of Labor & Industry

Lunch and Learn: Bring your lunch if you like.

Making safety a priority in your business or organization will help reduce work-related injuries, improve productivity and produce greater quality in your service or products. Learn why a written safety program is the first step at creating a strong safety culture. Requirements for joining Montana workers' compensation group rated plans will be reviewed, as well as tips for negotiating your workers' comp policy renewal.

The last 30 minutes of the class will be used to download the Safety Writer program. This provides a working template that is the first step toward implementing an effective safety culture, and will satisfy insurance requirements for a written safety plan.
